

Your invitation to Oregon Institute for Leadership Development (OILD)

for community college women

Facilitated by:
Kristina Holton
Amy Burbee

KEY DATES:

- Mid-March to Mid-May: Using their selection process, college presidents select primary and alternate college, CCWD, or OCCA women to represent their colleges at OILD.
- May 15: Name submission deadline.
- May 20: Primary nominees are confirmed; remaining spaces are offered to alternates.
- June 2: Final details mailed to participants.
- July 14-17: Institute week!

OILD is a four-day, all-inclusive professional development opportunity for community college women interested in leadership and personal and professional growth.

The Institute is supported by Oregon's community colleges. The all-inclusive fee of $895 per person includes leadership training, materials, food/beverage, and the required group lodging at Big K Guest Ranch.

OILD

JULY 14-17

Big K Guest Ranch

Elkton, OR

Many Institute participants have assumed leadership roles in their institutions.

www.aawccoregon.org/oild/

Applications to attend OILD will be distributed through college presidents' offices April-May